University of Northumbria at Newcastle (UNN) is a research-rich, business-focused, professional university with a global reputation for academic excellence. It is based in the heart of Newcastle upon Tyne, which is regularly voted the best place in the UK for students to live and study. UNN was ranked in the Top 30 universities in the UK in the 2021 Guardian University league table and ranked 15th in the UK for 2022 on StudentCrowd, whose UK university league table is voted for by students who have actually studied, or are still studying, at each university. UNN has campuses based in Newcastle upon Tyne, London and Amsterdam, and works in partnership with other higher education institutions worldwide, attracting students from around 136 countries.

Northumbria's courses are at the forefront of current knowledge and practice and are shaped by world-leading and internationally excellent research. The Department of Sport, Exercise & Rehabilitation is committed to delivering excellence in every aspect of work it undertakes.

Additionally, Northumbria University is ranked as a top 100 Young University in the Times Higher Education World University Rankings 2021. Staff are internationally renowned within their disciplines and their research is pioneering, helping to inform students, practitioners and Government policy - UNN was ranked Top 30 in the UK for Research Power and has been named Research University of the year 2024 in a new league table published by the Daily Mail. The department also provides bespoke help and advice with a range of industries and professional bodies.

The two programmes aim to produce graduates who can demonstrate a critical understanding of the processes and practices that are central to professions within Sport Coaching and Sport Management. The programmes are designed to provide an academically and vocationally relevant curriculum that will stimulate students to become active learners, question existing practice and develop effective evaluative skills.

A distinctive feature of the Sport Coaching programme is that it is designed specifically for future coaches and sports educators. This specialisation means that you will gain the skills, knowledge and understanding that may not be taught in a general sports degree.

The Sport Management programme is designed to enable you to appreciate and evaluate sport as a global business from an informed and inquisitive managerial viewpoint. At every level of study, you will develop vocationally relevant experience and skills; such as event management, strategic and economic planning, media management for sport, and sport marketing.

The curriculum of the two programmes reflect staff expertise and research interests, key trends in associated national, international professional bodies and current sport policy, and the relevant national benchmarks.

Embedded transferable skills in areas such as information technology, problem-solving, communication and reflective practice will help students to prepare for a global market and pursue lifelong learning.

Assessment

The two programmes incorporate a wide variety of assessment methods enabling the ways in which student achievement is measured and evaluated to be appropriate to the learning outcomes of each module. Appropriate techniques are chosen to fit the subject and context for the students involved. The range of assessment methods includes: portfolios, essays and assignments, oral presentations, article reviews, business plans, poster presentation, project reports, literature reviews, group assessments and examination (for one module in the Bachelor of Science (Honours) Sport Coaching programme). Student achievement is assessed through reference to a set of generic grade descriptors (provided to students via a student handbook) with specific marking criteria identified within each module outline.

Professional Recognition

Graduates of the two programmes may apply for the membership of the Hong Kong Recreation Management Association and the World Leisure Organization - Hong Kong Chapter.

Work Placement Opportunities

Work placement opportunities are available in the module of Professional Development Through Sport. Students have had volunteering opportunities with organisations such as the Hong Kong Schools Sports Federation, Leisure and Cultural Services Department, National Sports Associations, NGOs and private clubhouses.

Career Opportunities

The sports and recreation sector is one of the most dynamic industries globally and demand for jobs is high. Many of our students gain graduate based work very soon after graduation. Graduates work in a variety of jobs and for different organisations including commercial and public sector positions. Recent graduates have taken posts within a wide range of fields including: event management, facility management, sport development, sport marketing, sport media, manufacturing and retail, sport coaching and clubhouse management.

WONG Ka Hing, Coco

- Bachelor of Science (Honours) Sport Coaching - First Class Honours, HKU SPACE IC (2019-2021)
- Certified Personal Trainer, NASM (2021)
- Stretching Instructor, HK Stretching Exercise Association (2021)
- Founder of 50+ Exercise Buddy Fitness and Wellness (2021)

“It was an enlightening journey filled with challenges and excitements, the knowledge and experiences from the programmes provided me a strong foundation in developing my business “50+ Exercise Buddy”. I have experienced supports from all levels, my lecturers demonstrated how quality of teaching can make a difference in learning whilst administration staff were helpful. I was most grateful to receive Outstanding Performance Scholarship for 2 consecutive years.”

MOHAMMAD ZAMMAR UMAR

- Bachelor of Science (Honours) Sport Management, HKU SPACE IC (2018-2020)
- Higher Diploma in Sports and Recreation Management, HKU SPACE Stanley Ho Community College (2016-2018)

“I chose the Bachelor of Science (Honours) Sport Management program because of my interest in the field of sports. Being a sports enthusiast, taking part in this program was ideal for me as I learnt a great deal about the different pieces that make up the sports industry, which gave me the opportunity to work in various environments within sports while also enhancing job opportunities overseas. Having a part time job while studying was essential but thankfully, the lecturers and the program staff were always friendly and approachable even regarding issues outside of study and that made a huge difference in me enjoying my time studying this course and graduating with all their help.”
