University of London Business Programmes

The University of London is truly one of the greatest universities in the world. The university is a federation of 18 world-class colleges and 10 specialised institutes, with a student population of more than 120,000. The university's reputation for high academic standards has been built on the outstanding teaching and research of its colleges since 1836, and its degrees are recognised internationally by governments, universities, employers and professional bodies as being of a high academic quality and standard.

For over 150 years, University of London degrees have been accessible to students all over the world through the University of London Programmes. Over the years, many exceptional people who have studied with the University of London Programmes have shaped our world. Former students include seven Nobel Prize winners, leaders of commonwealth countries, government ministers, renowned authors, academics, judges and business leaders. Today, the University of London Programmes are truly international in character with more than 50,000 students in 180 different countries.

Academic Direction: London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE)

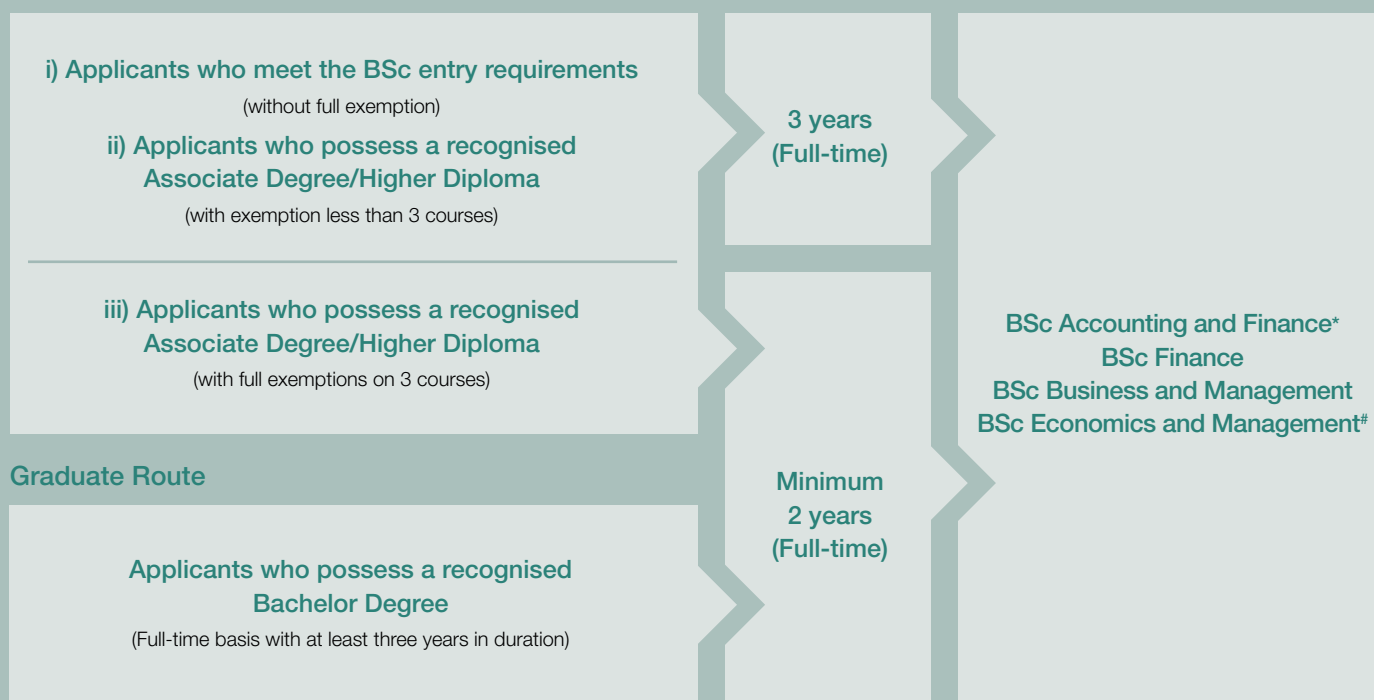

Academic direction for all of the courses offered through the University of London Programmes is provided by the colleges of the University. Academics at these colleges develop the syllabi, prepare the study materials, and are responsible for the assessment of students. In the case of the BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Finance, BSc Business and Management and BSc Economics and Management programmes, academic direction is provided by the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE). LSE has consistently been ranked at the highest level amongst universities in the UK.

Programme Highlights

- The degree is awarded by the University of London and the programme is academically developed and managed by the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE);
- In 2024, LSE is ranked 6th worldwide in the subjects of Accounting & Finance; 7th worldwide in the subjects of Economics & Econometrics; 12th worldwide in the subjects of Business & Management Studies; and 45th worldwide overall in QS World University Rankings.

[#] Courses specific requirements such as competence in English Language and Mathematics may be required.

Graduate Entry Route

Students who hold a full first degree completed in a minimum of 3 years duration on a full-time basis (or equivalent) from an university or other institutions acceptable to the University of London will be considered.

Duration of Study and Awards

The normal duration of the programme is 3 years. With full exemptions from the first year of study, students may complete BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Finance, BSc Business and Management and BSc Economics and Management[#] in a minimum of 2 years.

Upon satisfactory completion of the programme, students will be awarded BSc Accounting and Finance/ BSc Finance/BSc Business and Management/BSc Economics and Management.

When students graduate with a degree, diploma or certificate from the University of London, they will be sent two documents - a final diploma (i.e. the parchment they receive following graduation) and a Diploma Supplement.

* The minimum duration of finishing BSc Accounting and Finance through Graduate Entry is 3 years.

[#] Subject to individual cases. Some may not be able to finish in 2 years.

The final diploma will indicate that the student has been registered with the University of London and awarded a University of London degree, diploma or certificate, and included the name of the Academic Direction which conducted the examinations. The University of London logo and signature of the Vice-Chancellor of the University of London are incorporated. The Diploma Supplement will describe the nature, level and content of the programme the student successfully completed and include a transcript of courses taken and marks achieved, as well as the overall classification. It also provides further information about the role of the Academic Direction and method of study.

Degrees are awarded with the following classifications: First Class Honours, Second Class Honours (divided into Upper Division and Lower Division), Third Class Honours and Pass.

Teaching Mode

The teaching methods include lectures and tutorials. Staff members consist of HKU SPACE and overseas lecturers.

Assessment

Assessment will be done by examination. Each course is assessed by one written examination determined by the University of London. All examinations are held once a year in May/June[^].

“The UoL International Program at HKU SPACE offered the unique opportunity to gain an international education from a globally-renowned university (UoL) in my home city. Doing the BSc Economics and Management provided a very well-rounded and in-depth education of both economics and general business. Studying with HKU SPACE also gave me the opportunity to attend intensive revision classes with foreign professors closer to the exam date, which had a hugely positive impact on exam performance. The degree has fortified my quantitative and qualitative skills, and achieving a first class honours has opened doors for me to pursue further education at the world’s top business schools.”
