University of the Arts London (UAL) is the world's 2nd best university for Art and Design in the QS World University Rankings by Subject in 2024, for the sixth year in a row. The University offers an extensive range of courses in art, design, fashion, communication and performing arts. UAL's graduates go on to work in and shape creative industries worldwide.

UAL brings together, in a single federated structure, six of the most famous art and design colleges in the world: Camberwell College of Arts, Central Saint Martins College of Arts and Design, Chelsea College of Arts, London College of Fashion, London College of Communication (LCC) and Wimbledon College of Arts. With a combined student population of approximately 26,000 and a global network of over 200,000 alumni, UAL is one of the world's largest academic centres for art, design and communication.

UAL is not only a centre of excellence in practice-based learning, but also a leading research university. UAL has been placed in the overall top 30 UK research institutions for the quality of research submitted in the Research Excellence Framework (REF) 2014. It is a top 5 research university in its broader peer group and first in the power ranking in the Art and Design, History, Practice and Theory category.

London College of Communication

LCC programmes are known for being industry focused. Students are taught by an inspiring community of experienced academics, technical experts and leading specialist practitioners. They are often commissioned to work on live briefs for major companies such as Nike, The National Trust and Nokia. LCC students go on to inform the future of the creative field. LCC's alumni include TV presenters Craig Doyle and Kate Thornton; Charles Saatchi, art collector and the co-founder of advertising agency Saatchi & Saatchi. The college also houses a selection of famous archives. From filmmaker Stanley Kubrick to graphic designer Tom Eckersley, these are invaluable tools for teaching, learning and research.

This programme prepares students for a successful career in whatever area of the media they choose to go into, from photography to marketing, journalism to filmmaking, curation to web design.

The focus of the programme is to examine the role media, cultural and creative processes play in shaping all aspects of contemporary social life. Students will learn about media and cultural theory with an emphasis on creativity, innovation, exploration, discovery and collaboration.

The programme guides students through a series of case study modules that will help them understand the links between the academic concepts and discussions explored in the degree and how these ideas can be applied using a range of media. This programme is different from others because the practical elements are designed specifically to help students develop their critical thinking – by putting their ideas into practice. They do not just learn what to do and how to do it, they also learn why they are doing it.
